1 Leg work

Don't know about you, but when our legs ache, we want relief - and fast! Epoch's IceDancer Invigorating Leg Gel, $26.50, is a rub-in instant relief that will hit the spot. Its key ingredient of natural wild mint is used by native American tribes for treating aches and pains. Added to that is eucalyptus and peppermint oil (to refresh and revive), horse chestnut (to stimulate), and menthol (to cool, calm and revive). For details, call 1800 063 808.

Dream product

Charles Worthington's Dream Hair range is all about pampering - even the names make you feel good: Seeing is Believing, Feels Fabulous, and Definite Difference. But it's the product we love (and so too do Elle Macpherson, Kylie Minogue and The Naked Chef, Jamie Oliver). You'll love the pretty floral fragrance, too. From $12.95 to $24.95.

3 Ultimate cream

What a hit the Ultima II: Extraordinaire Supreme Diamond Cream, $95, was in the office. Our tester fell in love with it instantly: "My skin looked tired, with loads of break-outs, but after seven days, everyone was noticing a difference. My spots had cleared up, and my skin was feeling much smoother. And, just quietly, it looks fab on the bedside cabinet!" Only available at Myer/Grace Bros.

Tea cosy

It's going to get cold very soon, so be prepared to pamper yourself indoors with Elizabeth Arden's Get Warm Collection, featuring green tea bath and body products to soothe the mind, body and spirit. We love the Floating Leaf Soaps, $29 for a set of three, infused with the fresh green tea extract to stop your skin drying out.

Crystal clear

If overly bright lippies and nail varnishes aren't your thing, then Estée Lauder's Pure Color Crystal lipsticks, $38, and lacquers, $27, are for you. They'll give your nails and lips just a hint of colour. The lipsticks (infused with fig fragrance) wear like a gloss, and give a subtle shimmer. The nail lacquers are sheer, and dry to a lollipop-look gloss.
